Copyright, 1926, by the O. C. I. WAS mentioned here yesterday the Italian flyer, Bernardi, would go after the three kilometer record, held by an American officer, and get it. Bernardi did go after it and got it. His average was above 233 miles an hour, covering the course four times.

THIS IS a good thing for the United States. In some way the government of this country must be made to realize flying is a reality, and that the airplane, invented in America, really flies.

'WET' PLANE SEIZED AT REQUEST OF HENRY FORD

Detroit, Nov. 19.—An airplane containing fourteen cases of white key was seized at the Ford airport early today at the request of Henry Ford. Henry Ford was arrested at the airport by police who brought the plane to the airport last night. A night watchman discovered the liquor cargo. Mr. Ford was not with the plane and the police were called. The automobile maker himself waited several hours at the field with officers in hopes the aviator would return to his plane. When arrested, denied he was the pilot of the machine. Field attaches, however, said Espino was the man who alighted last yesterday and was granted permission to park his plane overnight in accordance with the hospital policy at the airport.

According to Inspector H. H. Marshall, Ford said: "My men, a charge of the airport have been suspicious for some time that aerial bootleggers were violating the courtesies and privileges we accorded them."

FLOOD IN BROOKLINE CAUSES HEAVY LOSS

Property damage of many thousands of dollars was caused today when Village Brook, Brookline, overflowing its banks and flooded nearby streets and property to a depth of four feet. The flood caused a washout on the railroad and made it necessary to abandon one line of track for several hours. Rain falling in a heavy downpour caused the flood. The brook had been dammed while concrete was being laid preparatory to placing a permanent cover over the brook to prevent small floods that were common in the past, but the damming resulted in the biggest flood the town has experienced.

EX-MAID GRILLED AGAIN ON RAZOR AS STATE IS CLOSING IN HALL CASE

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 19.—Mrs. Paul A. Bonner, a sister of Dr. Hall, has been served with a subpoena by the State in the Hall-Mills murder case. State Trooper Harry A. Lindaman, who served the paper, at first met with Mrs. Bonner on her part to accept, she claiming she is a citizen of New York. He held up her car until she did accept. Mrs. Bonner was in court yesterday sitting near Mrs. Hall. When she understood the State was about to serve her, she quietly left the room.

A relaxation of the severe tension of Mrs. Jane Gibson's day in court was evident today in the attitude of the defendant. Mrs. Hall was almost vivacious and chatted with Mrs. Edwin Carpenter, who sat behind her. Henry Stevens was cool and at ease. Willie's simple smile had returned.

'BLUE BOOK' STIRSYALE BOYS AND SOCIETY GIRLS

New Haven, Nov. 19.—"A little blue book," the property of Police-woman Mary Glavin, is today the most important and most feared document in this city, for it contains the names of more than a score of Yale students and also the names of society girls and flappers who have visited the students' quarters in midnight parties.

The "little blue book," and the damming details it contains, has caused a furore among Yale's faculty and student body, and also among some of the best known families in New Haven.

CRYING BABIES SAVE 11 AT E. BOSTON FIRE

In a frantic search through flames and smoke for her youngest child, Mrs. Angelina Giannattasio of No. 10 Princeton street, East Boston, was overcome today when fire drove eleven persons from their beds and threatened a time-honored district of modest homes. Crying of babies awakened Mrs. Giannattasio. She saw a light gleam from the wall opposite her bedroom window. She fled the floor hot beneath her feet and heard the crackling of flames. Shrieking a warning to her husband, she rushed to the door and found the fire had spread to the ceiling. Mr. Giannattasio rushed back into the house through the heavy smoke and to the bedroom she was unable to find her husband and child, and police, who followed her when they saw her run in, found her collapsed on the floor. She was carried out and revived after several minutes.

The fire started in the cellar beneath Mrs. Giannattasio's room. The cause was undetermined. Damage was confined to the cellar and first floor. The loss was estimated at $1,000.

The way is open to every New England community to expand its scope to make New England a public domain, even before realization.

'Pig Woman' Cries

In Trial's Greatest Climax

STAR PROSECUTION WITNESS ON STAND

In the courtroom at Somerville, N. J., where every principal and every spectator and court attaché sat absolutely immobile and tense, with bated breath, as Mrs. Jane Gibson (alias "Easton"), the "Pig Woman," in barely audible tones, named Mrs. Frances Noel Stevens Hall, her two brothers, Henry and "Willie" Stevens, and Henry Carpenter, not yet tried, as the ones she saw at the murder scene four years ago.

DEFENSE READY TO BATTLE STORY TOLD TO HALL JURYMEN BY STRICKEN 'PIG WOMAN'

the home of Dr. Hall was recalled to the stand as today's first witness. Prosecutor Simpson asked her if, after the murder, she had seen in the home the rascal which he introduced in evidence a few days ago. "I don't remember," said the maid. The rascal, it had been charged, was the property of Dr. Hall. Miss Trough had been asked when she was on the stand before if Willie Stevens used a razor and she said he "shaved down town."

She was questioned as follows: Q—How long did you remain in the Hall home after the murder? A—Until February 23 following.

Q—Did you see this rascal in the house after the murder? A—"I don't remember whether I did or not."

Q—Where was it kept? A—"In the medicine chest."

Q—Did you go to the medicine chest at all after the murder? A—"No."

On cross-examination she was asked by defense Attorney Case: Q—Did you ever look for the razor? A—"No."

Miss Simpson put in: "You took care of the medicine chest, didn't you?"

END IS IN SIGHT

The defense is expected to open this afternoon. Forty witnesses have been subpoenaed. Mrs. Hall and her brothers are to take the stand early, perhaps on Saturday.

Frank Caprio of Red Bank, a private detective employed by the late prosecutor, Bookman of Somerset County to investigate the case, will be another witness for the State today.

The mother of the "Pig Woman," Mrs. Salome Eliastene Covenner, of Hoboken, 72 years old, said of her daughter:

"I hate her just as much as ever. Some things Jane said were true, but there were many lies. It was a shame the way she was brought to court to testify."

"When I got on the stand I will tell of the way she talked about me and tried to injure me. I will also tell of the money I gave her which she never returned to me."

Mrs. Covenner has been in court nearly every day since the trial began, coming here daily from her home in Hoboken.

Mrs. Gibson's reiterated of the same phrases in response to similar questions asked at different points in the cross-examination, caused an impression among some that she was telling a story in which she had been drilled.

She got ahead of her story in several instances as, when Senator Case was asking her about conditions beneath the crab apple tree and the

TENSE MOMENT IN MURDER TRIAL AS MRS. GIBSON PLACES RECTOR'S WIDOW AT SCENE

No more dramatic moment can be imagined in a courtroom. Mrs. Gibson, whose life had been spared if she made the 40-mile journey to testify, stuck to her story and her identification under the fire of a most grueling cross-examination by the million-dollar defense counsel. With this dramatic episode as the climax in the case, the prosecution closed. In the photograph are shown: (No. 1) Special Prosecutor Simpson, (2)

'Pig Woman Heroic for Truth,' Says Charlotte

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 19.—Today I am sending flowers and a little note to Mrs. Gibson. I just want to show my appreciation for her heroism. No war hero ever did a braver thing than she did when he defied death for the truth.

I shall never forget that last dramatic scene as she was being taken from the courtroom after she had finished her testimony. The jury had already gone out and the room was buzzing with excitement.

Suddenly Mrs. Gibson raised herself weakly and shook her finger at Mrs. Hall and her two brothers and said with all the force she could command: "I told the truth, so help me, God, and you know it."

She said that knowing that any minute she may go to meet her God. Could anyone say those words after speaking a lie?

Today the defense has its chance, but I cannot see how they can do anything to counteract Mrs. Gibson's testimony. The prosecution's case is complete. They were there that night, Mrs. Hall and her brothers, at the murder spot.

woman she saw there, she said: "She was facing the men."

Senator Case smiled with satisfaction as he said: "I'll get around to that."

With Mrs. Gibson's testimony disposed of the end of the Hall-Mills case was looked forward to. It is thought the defense will be able to finish its case by next Friday and that the case will be given to the jury on Saturday. The belief is general that the jury will not take very long to consider its verdict.

Despite the wide interest in the case on the part of those outside her courtroom, three jurors have fallen

$100,000 Deaths Suit Verdict Limited to Twenty Cents

Los Angeles, Nov. 19 (A.P.)—The price of a can of salmon in the limit of compensation that can be obtained by M. N. Putnam, a dentist, for the death of his wife and 15-year-old son from food poisoning, the Superior Court has ruled.

Ascribing their poisoning death to the canned salmon, Putnam asked damages of $100,000 for the death of each. The California law provides that the measure of damages resulting from spoiled food is the amount paid for the food, in this case 70 cents.

'BEFORE GOD, I TOLD THE TRUTH'

CLOSE TO DEATH, SHE ACCUSES THREE

HER WORDS OF FATE SPOKEN, 'PIG WOMAN' MAKES EXIT

Photo shows Mrs. Jane Gibson on stretcher being carried into the courtroom at Somerville, N. J., to brand in quivering, defiant tones, Mrs. Hall, her two brothers and their cousin as the slayers of the Rev. E. W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills at a love feast. This scene was duplicated in general detail after the "Pig Woman's" dramatic testimony had been given and she was placed back in the ambulance to be returned to the hospital—possibly to die as the result of her strenuous action.

TICKETS FOR SHOW

Soon subpoenas were forthcoming for these people. Maybe they actually were witnesses, but I have an idea that those subpoenas were merely tickets to the "show."

Anyway, I didn't count for much. I had to find a cat to be my counsel. I am only the daughter of the poor Mills family.

I cried when Mrs. Gibson was telling her story. I realized then for the first time what she was doing, risking her life for truth and justice. She was so pitiful, lying there, with a doctor and nurse at her side, watching her every breath.

I suppose, too, it made me cry because it reminded me in a way of my mother that time she was so sick after the operation. She was near death. Dr. Hall sat at her bedside pleading: "Eleanor, you must stay well—for me."

And she did get well. I just know that Dr. Hall's love saved her from death.

While Mrs. Gibson was testifying, her old mother sat glowing. It seemed to me there was hate in her eyes. I cannot understand what the mother can feel that way toward a daughter.

SKIPPER OF 242 DENIES RUM CHARGES

Upon the rum row, loaded it onto the 242, took the cargo to Falmouth and sold it to Irvine White, alleged bootlegger. Those who saw the white man who was in the crew as a bootlegger's mate and took command when he (Haley) was ill or off duty.

Previously several witnesses, members of the 242 crew had testified that Haley dealt in liquor and gave them money, while in conflicting testimony, Burnett and Blaker said that Wilson was the man who negotiated with rum runners and paid them sums varying from $15 to $20.

Referring constantly to the log at the 242, Haley, quietly and convincingly, made direct examination by Attorney William E. Lewis, testified as follows:

Q—What was the condition of your health the early part of this year? A—I was run down with the flu, was not fit to go to sea and was confined to my cabin when at sea. I sometimes remained below when decked at the time.

Q—When did Wilson first come aboard? A—He came aboard in February and remained until May.

Q—What were Wilson's duties? A—He took the watch at the wheel on deck, four hours on and four hours off.

Q—Did he have complete control and command of the boat while on duty? A—Yes, sir, except being subject to my orders as to where to go.

Q—Do you know what Wilson was doing while you were asleep? A—No, sir, I don't.

Q—Did you know that Wilson was a spy or spyer? A—I believed he was a Department of Justice agent.

On the night Wilson came to him and told him he had prearranged a special trip to rum row and that a man named Leach would go along. Haley continued. The purpose was that the Coast Guard was anxious to trap the George and Earl, made no contact, and then returned to these 2 that night.

FUT FAIR OFF BOAT.

Haley testified that on the date on which he was charged with dealing with the rum-running schooner George and Earl, and in doing both mentioned in the Boston Evening American's Coast Guard rum revelations, the 242 had been tied up at Base 1.

He said that on one occasion, while at sea, he went to the pilot house for duty and there found in civilian clothes the master and radio operator of a rum runner which stood nearby.

BIG BATTLE IN CONGRESS ON TAX CUT

Washington, Nov. 19 (A.P.)—Indications that the principal battle of the approaching session of Congress will rage about the tax reduction continue to multiply.

Not only has opposition to the administration plan for returning the treasury surplus to taxpayers through credit allowances on their payments next year been disclosed in Republican circles, but Democratic leaders have made considerable progress in securing for a drive looking to enactment of permanent tax reduction instead of waiting, as Secretary Mellon advises, for a more complete demonstration of the present law's operation.

DEFINITE PLAN

A definite plan to reduce taxes on at least $225,000,000 has been worked out by Senator Simmons, Democrat of North Carolina, and Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, the ranking minority members respectively of the Senate Finance and House Ways and Means committees.

Their objective, which might be increased to $400,000,000, would be attained through reduction of income tax on corporations from 15 to 11 per cent, or lower, repeal of excise taxes and modification, possibly of the income tax and surtaxes on individual incomes between $30,000 and $50,000.

Treasury estimates of the surplus which will be available at the end of the current fiscal year have ranged from $200,000,000 to $300,000,000, but these Democratic leaders have indicated that the present law is not likely to be so productive in its second year as it has been in the first.

While the Democratic leaders were making known their plan Senator Lenoir, Republican, Wisconsin, told a group of New York credit men that he also disapproved of the administration's proposal and suggested, instead, that a measure be enacted reducing taxes on next year's incomes, payable in 1928.

"Stearns Special" Silk Stockings

(list tops and feet)

Regularly selling for $1.75 a pair. Sale price on our entire stock, a pair

$1.35

Saving of 40c on every pair.

This is the first time since we introduced "Stearns Special" Silk Stockings about three years ago that we have ever offered them at less than the regular price $1.75. That price was maintained even during our clearance sales. Beyond question they have been the best selling silk stockings we have ever offered. Many thousands of our customers buy them regularly.

We are about to make a change in the construction of these stockings and so offer our entire stock at this greatly reduced price. The new stockings will be ready about Nov. 26.

There are over forty of the season's colors, including those now most in demand. The range of sizes is complete from 8½ to 10½ inclusive.

During this sale these stockings will be sold only on our sixth floor, where special space has been arranged.

Mrs. Arthur A. Cohen
(top), Mr. J. P. Mullen
(lower left) and Miss Catherine M. Crowley (lower right) will welcome guests at the Elks' new home Ladies' Days, November 29 and 30.

ELKS OPEN NEW HOME NOV. 28

Starting off with a flag raising Sunday, November 28, the Boston Lodge of Elks will open the new home at No. 271 Tremont street by celebrating for eight days. A parade with a number of military organizations will open the day's program November 28 and when the flag at the new home is raised the building will be the scene of a reception to State and city authorities ending with an organ recital and concert. The following two days will be Ladies' Days. Women's clubs throughout the city have been invited. Special women's committees, including Catherine M. Crowley, Mrs. J. P. Mullen and Mrs. Arthur A. Cohen will be on hand to welcome the visiting ladies. December 1 had been set aside for receptions to a number of clubs and societies ending with an entertainment by a number of theatrical stars. "Bondholders' Day" will be celebrated December 2. The following day will be All Elks and Past Grand Masters' day. Lodge members from all parts of New England will visit the new home. A dedication banquet and entertainment will end the festivities. The annual memorial exercises will be held at the Metropolitan Theatre Sunday, December 5. The week of celebration will be brought to a close Monday, December 6, with a grand ball. The new home will cater to the traveling public. The fifth floor will be set aside for Elks only and it is expected the 3rd sleeping rooms will be kept busy.

BIRDS FROM NORTH MEAN EARLY WINTER
Haverhill, Nov. 18.—The appearance of a large number of northern birds of prey in this vicinity is considered by local hunters an indication of an early and severe winter. Charles Morse and Harry E. Reed, both of this city, while hunting collected two specimens, a northern hawk and a vireo, a wide spread of feet and an Arctic or Snow Owl, in the woods near Topshfield. The birds, it is believed, were driven south by intense cold northward.

HILL CHILDREN TREMBLE ON ELEVATOR RIDE

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 18.—Three children, as innocent of the world as though they had spent the short span of their lives on a mountain in Tibet, are today in the charge of the Connecticut Children's Aid Society, rescued from the hotel in which they lived. The children, although living in the hills of Litchfield, not 40 miles from this city, had never seen an electric light, a gas jet, nor water.

FATHER OF THREE SMALL CHILDREN ENDS LIFE

Litchfield, N. H., Nov. 18.—Howard Blodgett, 33, committed suicide in his home in North Litchfield by hanging. In the morning he had gone over to teach children to use Cuticura. He had been in the hospital for some time.

his customary route carrying the school children of that section.

MILLIONAIRE'S SON PETITIONS FOR GUARDIAN

New York, Nov. 18.—William Barton French, son of the late John Barton French, millionaire partner in the J. P. Morgan company, admitted in a court petition here that he is such a slave to drink as to be incompetent and asked that a guardian be appointed.

Accordingly he is today under the guardianship of Philip J. Dunn, appointed by Supreme Court Justice Francis S. Dolansky.

French's guardianship, however, is but temporary, as the justice ordered that a jury be empaneled to investigate the details of the petition.

French was arrested on the complaint of Thomas Cook and significant travel agent, was charged that they had cashed a check for $1500 for French and it was returned as worthless. When French was arraigned on this charge the police said they had been in communication with the authorities at Paris, who stated that French had wanted in the French capital for passing worthless checks aggregating $2500 at the California Hotel. He is now out on bail for appearance on the check charges on November 24.

SHOP EARLY TO GET PICK OF EVERYTHING

By JOAN STUART

"Lead me a smoke, Bob!"
The young brother and his "girl friend" had dropped in to see me.

"Well, while you're at it, Pug, why not ask cigarette?" he wanted to know as he passed his paper picture of "Bugs".

"For what?" Pug (the detestable nicknamed) laughed away down in her throat.

"A cigarette case for Christmas, of course. I told cigarette for me and you. Lord knows how I got so I never decided to drop you."

EARLY BUYER BEST.
"Other men smoke," she retorted
sweetly.

But that's how it happened that I was in town at 9 o'clock this morning with a young man who had ten cigarettes to spend.

"This is the most important thing
I have to buy and it's the last I can get for my pocketbook today."

"I'll get you a beauty for ten dollars. When you get into the store before the selection is gone, you can generally manage to find what you want for the price you want to spend. It's at the last minute that you have to pay and take anything that's left."

"You are right, Bob. The early shopper is a knockout. I'm surprised that you with your 'cigarette' bought never thought of it before."

EXPLAINS DETAILS.
We arrived at a counter in a store where a uniformed page boy opens the door.

"More than ten dollars will spot
my credit," Bob warned.

"Don't worry so much, you'll get your cigarette case all wrapped up in a box in a few minutes. It's easy. To the salesman, 'Let us see that green and gold case with the gold top, please.'"

Bob explained it as I called his attention to the details of the delightful even festive "cigarette".

It was a case for the "cigarette" that was a case for the "cigarette" that so many women prefer, as exactly the design, the fine lace net it simulated. The "box" had precisely no weight, and was firmly washed in a form to hold the paper cigarettes, as well as house cigarette
JEWELLED TOP.

The top was jewelled in the more brilliantly colored, very small stones, nicely set.

"Say, Bob, a beautiful case, a cigarette case like this would make her head off just so she could keep it displayed. Is it really only $10?"

"If it were more than that,"
told him I wouldn't keep telling myself that I really could afford it."

"Don't bother to buy one," Bob advised. "I'll tell you to meet her when she's through with it."

AWARD 'BEST WINDOW' CUP

The large sterling silver cup offered as first prize by the Boston Advertiser and Advertiser to the store that had the most attractive window display during the
"Year's Greatest Window Display" contest. The Cup was awarded to the Boston (Faneuil Company), 940 Commonwealth avenue, today.

The three judges of the window display were Mr. and Mrs. E. A. of the Amory Advertising Agency, Mr. George S. Smith of Smith Advertising Agency and Mr. Joseph J.
Sweeney of the Hays St. Street Advertising Agency, all of Boston.

Those who mention we give to the Faneuil Company of the Cup, Mrs. Sweeney for having the second best window display.

Such enthusiasm was shown by the judges of Greater Boston
during the "Year's Greatest Window Display" and almost all of them cooperated for the purpose of increasing their sales and lowering the cost of their campaigns.

Man Found Senseless

The police are investigating the man of Edward L. Smith, 22, 23

Bill Avenue, who was found senseless, and who was found by his wife, Nora.

Why does the person simple. It is to help the poor to have a better

poor to have a better

PHILOSOPHER LOSES JOB, ENDS LIFE

New York, Nov. 18.—When Frederick Stoney discovered that his college education and his study of Nietzsche's philosophy of the "will to power" couldn't even keep him in a job in child restaurant he decided that life was not worth the living and plunged from a window in the tenth story of a Riverside Drive apartment house.

JURY FOREMAN TELLS OF WILD AUTO CHASE

New Bedford, Nov. 18.—A man and a woman who were the pursuers of the foreman of a jury in a manslaughter case here, possibly apparently to prevent him from delivering a verdict, are then being the quarry today in a chase led by local police inspectors.

Charles O. Brannan, foreman of the jury which decided the case against Frank J. Isler, a 30-year-old man, told the court that he had been chased by a man and a woman in an automobile as he was returning to his home.

C.W. BARRON

gives his point of view as

FOUNDER and a DAILY

READER of the

BOSTON NEWS

BUREAU

Why I consider the BOSTON NEWS

BUREAU—developed over forty years under my personal direction—the best financial and business paper in the world—

First. It is the best size for the hand and the eye—the eye can compass the entire page.

Second. It is printed on book paper—not on the news print of the ordinary daily paper.

Third. The type is large and clear—serving the eye even as it saves time.

Fourth. It has the most condensed financial and business presentation in the world—by a staff I have personally trained from more than fifty years of news experience.

Fifth. It has everything of interest to the man of business and finance that any other paper has, and features that no other paper has.

Sixth. It has the best condensed money survey.

Seventh. Published outside of New York, it can look into Wall Street with an independent eye and give a survey of the whole financial and business field more complete, condensed, and useful than can be found in any other publication.

I have tried to be the best-posted reporter in finance; and I make the BOSTON NEWS BUREAU my standard, covering the whole range of financial and business information. If the basal cause for business or financial changes is not found therein, I give the order to get it there.

'Back Bay Rum Gang' Is Blamed in Disappearance From Stoughton Home

Led, by Frank Tracey, wealthy and, middle-aged Stoughton realty dealer, Boston sleuths today began a hunt through the Back Bay, particularly in districts frequented by known bootleggers, for pretty Lillian Thayer, Tracey's ward, who disappeared several days ago.

Tracey blames "the Back Bay rum gang" for the girl's leaving his luxurious home to take up a life of adventure and danger. While neighbors of the Stoughton man have been convinced for some time that the girl had left home with a young Irish student to whom she had been introduced by Tracey, the real estate man would not accept that theory until his own investigators convinced him that it was undoubtedly true.

He believes from the findings of the investigators, that the Irish student was connected with the Back Bay bootleggers, being the connecting link between them and students "showing part" in their apartments or in hotel rooms in the district.

Tracey announced that he will spend $10,000 in the effort to find the girl and he expressed the confidence that by this time that the girl has been the error of her ways and will return to the luxury and ease that he can provide for her.

The Stoughton man has already taken the preliminary steps toward the adoption of the girl when his wife had loved while she was alive when Lillian suddenly disappeared.

SECRET AIR BASE FOR N.E. 'WAR'

Army Officials Make Plans for Coming Manoeuvres Here

Following a conference between Colonel Benjamin D. Paul, commanding the air forces at Milledgeville, N. Y., and officers at headquarters, First Corps Area, Boston, army officials are today selecting a landing field "somewhere in New England" to be used during the "mimic war" to be held in this section next spring.

The manoeuvres will bring to the largest number of air craft ever to assemble in the United States. Approximately 175 army aircraft, including bombers, and airplanes that the Navy will use in conjunction with the army, will be contracted in New England.

Major General Preston Brown, commanding the First Corps Area, and officers of his staff who went to Brooklyn early in the week to confer with Admiral Charles B. Higgins on the flagging device concerning the manoeuvres, returned to the city today.

MAYOR'S HOME KODAKS FACE IS BOMBED IN A CHEERLESS ILLINOIS FEUD

Chicago, Nov. 19 (A.P.)—Darius, spreading by in an automobile, hurled a dynamite bomb at the home of Mayor Joe Adams of Kankakee, near here, today shattering every pane of glass and blowing off the doors of the house.

The blast was heard for several blocks. The lives of the mayor, his wife and brother, Gus Adams, who were sleeping in the rear of the home, probably were saved by the fact that the bomb fell about 10 feet short of the front porch.

A Frankly Revealing Serial of Boston Night Life
By WARNER FABIAN
CHAPTER XXV.

DERRY was amused. "Don't you mind your husband being in love with me?" she asked the calm Mrs. Elway.

"Not in the least."

"But how could he ever expect to get away with it, here in Boston?" objected Willowdene. "He was sure to run into somebody that knew him."

"Not as likely as you'd suppose," returned the wife. "His friends most of his time in Europe and the rest to the wide, hunting, so he isn't known to many Bostonians. Then—"

"Well, I suppose I love you an explanation on behalf of the family he has a sort of complex, dating from his early youth when he got into a scrape and was held up for a very stiff sum the timidity of the very rich man who has inherited his money."

"Willowdene flushed darkly." "Does he take us for dachshunds?" "Oh, not it here, but, but seeing your father's color has become a sort of mild mania with him, whenever he thinks he can get away with it, he speaks of sailing." "Derry has an insuperable inclination to be quite frank with this strange and brilliant little creature. "As was almost chafed for Europe, I even considered marrying your husband."

"Claire Elway shook a judicial head. "No good. I've given it a fair trial. You'd much better marry Tony Landon."

"It's very nice of you to take such an interest," retorted Derry, turned aside.

"You're annoyed. You needn't be. I'd have married him myself once, probably, if he had wanted me to. He didn't. He's never wanted anyone as far as the historical records go, except you. My advice, which you didn't ask and don't suppose, is to marry him while the marrying is good. And what, what a little jump for the time of it."

"Can't?" said Derry. "Not a heavy date, Derry?" she smiled to Willowdene. "The lurching with my date. Don't forget your heavy date."

HAPPY NOW ON SEIZE $424,000 RUM AND BEER

Although many people have concluded that some impression before it struck Mr. and Mrs. Allan V. Schiller, N. W. County-west today at Niagara Falls that getting married is a great big gamble, but that sometimes it all comes out in the wash.

For Mr. Schiller, who was a perturbed Mr. Schiller of Mattapan a few days ago, and Mrs. Schiller, who was a very much upset Henrietta Newman of New Woodliffe, Roxbury, at that same time are on their honeymoon now, with all the troubles ironed out and with Henrietta's mamma's blessing.

Last Monday it was different; for Mrs. Newman collapsed in City Hall when she learned her daughter had filed intentions to wed.

Mrs. Newman smiled happily to-day, however, when she told her American that her daughter was spending a honeymoon at Niagara Falls.

To H--I with Yale!

Not a polite expression. It seems to me that I have heard it before. The late President Eliot made a very bad pun on it. On the afternoon of the Yale game he was on the way with his friend Mr. Hale. Someone stopped him, and said: "Are you going to the game, Dr. Eliot?" "YES," he said, "I AM GOING TO YELL WITH HALE!"

We can only make a very lame pun on our splendid American flag. It is 100 years old. It is 100 years old. It is 100 years old.

have or hope to have on the 19th of November. The game will be a thrilling one, and the chance of a football over the years cannot diminish in favor and intensity. The team that should be the victor, after a long season of the team that has a chance to win as often as not with, without a doubt. Just a year ago, the blue was a two to one favorite. But in the Crimson crowd and old dinner table, the game was a toss-up. When the sun dropped below the horizon, the game had not been decided.

Yale is a favorite again this year. The price for New Haven is 19 to 1. The Boston quotation is 19 to 1. It's a game that has the experts further out on a limb than a lineal.

Each to his own. The three games, and last four, Yale has won by Brown, Army, Maryland and Princeton. Harvard fell before the Blue-Gray Crispien, the Yale Brown. The Balling defeated it. In Georgia and Dartmouth, the Harvard looked William and Mary, Tufts and Dartmouth.

Treat Predicts Yale Will Triumph in Close Game

By HERB TREAT.

Football's classic will be played tomorrow before 80,000 people in the Yale Bowl. All other contests are forgotten when the Blue and Crimson collide in their annual game and we could save a lot of time and probably escape any criticism if we limited our predictions to the New Haven encounter.

There are a few other attractive games on the card, however, and we will make a stab at picking the winners of the leading half-dozen till.

Yale-Harvard (1925, Yale 0, Harvard 0)

It should be a game of many thrills, both teams being evenly matched. The destiny of Tad Jones and his eleven and that of Arnold Horween and his men will be determined by the outcome of this colorful gridiron battle. Neither team has shown its full power in 1926. In 1925, both teams were having mid-season slumps and there will be no championship at stake.

Harvard at Yale is a new kind of contest, so many Americans have been watching the game since last season to have recovered from their many losses.

Yale will win. The team of 1925, which was proclaimed the "Miracle Man" by the press, will probably be looked upon as a far better team than the 1926 team.

Yale to win. A close game.

Football League (1925, George 12, Hamilton 0). The Hamilton team has been one of the best in the country since the season began. The George team has been one of the best in the country since the season began.

Shettline Gives Up His Job With Phils. The Philadelphia Phillies have released Shettline from his contract. Shettline was a pitcher for the Phillies in 1925 and 1926.

Horween to Stay
Start Holds Promise

Fight Crows
No More Riots

HORWEEN HAS MADE PROPER START

HARVARD made the proper move in persuading Arnold Horween to come back as head coach. Arnold was not anxious to linger, and a lot of the sour grudge who can see nothing but victory as the measure of success were jabbering about a change. But the new athletic authorities paid no attention. They have a program, and they intend to follow it, let the walls fall where they may. Horween has restored spirit to the Harvard football team, and that's as much as any man can accomplish in one season. He took over a squad that didn't know whether it was coming or going; that had what they call an inferiority complex. He made the young men fight and scramble, and try hard. Their efforts weren't what you might call successful, but they didn't let that discourage them. They will bring plenty of fire into the Bowl at New Haven tomorrow, and there's more than a skinnny chance that they will split them. The brightest thing about the Horween policy, as this reporter sees it, was Arnold's willingness to try experiments. He hauled four sophomores into the varsity squad—French, Guarnaccia, Meadows and Putnam. And he put them in the big games. They didn't see the world on fire, but they did learn a lot about college football. And they have two more years to use the experience.

That seems a much better system than keeping promising kids on the bench until they are seniors. A boy can learn more in a couple of real hard games than he can in several years' practice. Harvard next fall will have the nucleus of a pretty good team, and the preliminary work that used no most of the first month this year will be unnecessary. Coach Horween and Athletic Director Bill Hinchman have the right idea. They might have picked a soft team to replace Princeton, but they signed up with Penn. And the Quakers come as close to being the opposite of soft as any outfit you could name. Harvard, big college, should play big games. With Holy Cross, Penn, Brown, Dartmouth and Yale on the '27 list, the Crimson will be doing that.

HARVARD AND YALE EACH HAVE WON THREE GAMES, THE BIG THREE. Take warning, grid fans, from the fate of Bill Lusk. He held up a quarter, and was killed on the yard.

SEAT YOU BUY, SEAT YOU GET

THE American editorial, which very properly blasted the crowd handling at the Sugar-Hinman row the other evening, has had its effect. Little Mack, the picturesque promoter who is putting on the Boston Walker rumpus Monday, takes great pains to tell us that the city's best flock of ushers and the town's strongest gang of cops will take good care to get that every fan gets the seat he pays for. Promoters of the other clubs are promising the same thing. Which is as it should be. The boys who were forced to stand at that table, in the chairs who were afraid to take a chance and step into the swirling jam at the entrances, can get some consolation from this. Their troubles helped to bring about a reform that has been needed here in boxing for some time.

RAIN will not affect the bare game. Both teams have been all wet most of the season.

Many a slow in the Yale Bowl on the morrow.

LEWIS TO FORFEIT $5,000 TO WRESTLE JOE STECHER

Los Angeles, Nov. 19 (A. P.)—Ed "Strangler" Lewis has been given until Monday in which to notify State Athletic Commission whether or not he intends to wrestle Joe Stecher here, December 1, to settle the rival claims of the two to the heavyweight wrestling title. If he fails to reach a decision regarding them, he will forfeit the $5,000 stake.

Roper Brands Professional Grid Players as Money Grabbers

Bill Roper, Princeton coach, hasn't much faith in the future of professional football. "College players give everything because of sentiment for their alma mater. The professionals play for money, and players will do more for sentiment than any material gain," Bill said at a luncheon in house of the Penn eleven.

Match, originally set for October 6, was postponed until October 13, because of the injury to Lewis.

TICKETS FOR BEAR COLGATE GAME GO FAST

Providence, Nov. 19.—The Brown varsity team need Colgate plays in a dummy scrimmage. The main part of the time was spent in cutting and preparing a defense against the attack of the Maroon eleven which plays here Thanksgiving.

The team which will start against New Hampshire here tomorrow will include four substitutes as Coach McLaughry does not want to take chances of injuries. Edes and possibly Elmsberg will be kept on the bench along with Kevorkian, Fodge, Smith and Lawrence for the Maroon encounter next week.

When tickets for the holiday contest went on sale here an unprecedented rush for pastboards for a Brown athletic contest started. A line of about 200 persons stretched across the campus from the gymnasium during most of the day while tickets sold at a downtown store went quickly.

The largest minor game crowd in seasons is expected to attend the contest with the Granite Staters tomorrow. Brown will be able to muster full strength against the visitors but will play safe against injury.

AMATEURS CLASH AT ST. JOE'S TOURNEY

Another record list of entries is on hand for the weekly amateur boxing tournament of the St. Joseph's T. A. S. which will be held at Commercial Hall, Boston Square, tomorrow night. In all seven classes, the entries are heavy and it is expected that the fans again will witness more than 20 bouts.

Two novice classes again feature the card. The non prize winners will compete in the 115 and 130 pound classes and it is expected that a number of promising newcomers will be on hand. Bouts in five open classes are also carded including 115, 125, 135 and 145 pounds and heavyweight.

The closed week the thing for the season is expected to attend the contest with the Granite Staters tomorrow. Brown will be able to muster full strength against the visitors but will play safe against injury.

Critics Pick Yale to Beat Harvard but They Have Been Known to Be Wrong

Rain Predicted for Outdoor Sports
Final Workouts in Bowl Today

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Nov. 19.—Yale and Harvard this afternoon face wet weather conditions when they practice in the Bowl. According to weather bureau forecasts, rain will fall all the afternoon, not only making practice disagreeable for the players, but dampening the playing surface of the Bowl which not only football critics but the public in general had hoped might be kept dry, hard and elastic until after tomorrow's game.

The bowl was covered with snow two days ago, and two good snow showers have already been absorbed by the covering, without affecting the playing surface. If today's down-pour proves an almsday rain, as weather indications suggest, the gridiron cannot be entirely dried before kick-off tomorrow.

The weather is one of the greatest concerns of the crowd, it is predicted that clear and cold conditions will prevail by kick-off tomorrow. The atmosphere is expected to clear tonight, with possible snow flurries, and much colder weather is expected to reach here by noon tomorrow. Weather observers here, and today that there is no reason to fear such muddy playing conditions as greeted the teams in 1923 and 1924. While both Yale and Harvard today gave out tentative lineups, it is not believed that either will be found upon the gridiron in the alignment which has already been announced. The Yale coaches said today that

By JOHN B. GILLOOLY.

On the eve of one of the toughest games that Boston College will engage in this year, Major Frank Cavanaugh is still undecided on his starting lineup.

Cavanaugh lacks none of the realism of his rival coach from across the Charles. From the beginning of the season he has been experimenting with his eleven, pecking the strongest grid machine that he can possibly put on the field.

Mello Boxes Marto; Lee Battles Saxon

By JACK CONWAY

NEW ENGLAND'S welterweight pot will start boiling again tonight.

Al Mello, Lowell's kyan artist, will swap punches with Tony Marto of New York in a ten-round bout at the Casino A. C. of Lynn.

George (Kid) Lee, New England welterweight champion, will also swing into action tonight. He will have Johnny Deane of Bridgeport as an opponent in a ten-round skirmish at Worcester.

The Lynn bout will be Mello's first start since he was operated on for appendicitis. Bobby Goldman's sturdy little bantamweight fighter was stricken following his fight with Lee Saxton, and will try for a knock-out tonight. In Marto he will be pitted against a rugged two-fisted fighter who will give him a real trial.

Johnny's six of Saxon, and Willie (Gee) of the North End will mingle in the semi-final of eight rounds.

In the around tables, Jimmy Valentine of the South End will oppose Johnny Ross of the North End, while Arthur Sullivan of Weymouth is paired with Salva Panto of Somerville.

LEE's bout tonight will also signal his return to the ring after a long absence. The Worcester youth injured one of his arms in a bout with Jack Zivis at Beaver Pond last summer. The injured member is now in good condition once more and Lee should give a fine account of himself.

Jackie Williams has signed Johnny Deane, Worcester featherweight to clash with Charley Mandy at Portland on next Tuesday night, while he has him booked to mingle with Jack Hauser of New York at Worcester on Thanksgiving Night.

It is Williams' intention to keep Deane active in the ring here, believing that a long run of victories will force the headlines to give Deane recognition.

Jack Malone, who collides with Mickey Walker in a ten-round skirmish at a Commercial A. C. bout at Mechanics Building on Monday night, writes as follows:

"I am returning to Boston next Monday night to show the fans of your city and state that I am in better fighting condition than ever before. Fully intent to defeat Mickey Walker and feel that, if given another chance, at twilight, I would defeat Tiger Finner, too. Mickey Walker, in a pinch, is a fighter, but I have defeated him before and in Boston, and the world knows that if there is one city I can perform like a champion for, it is the town I like the best of all—Boston."

"I was on the Pacific Coast for six months where I won 11 straight fights and defeated Leo Lomax for the Coast title. I have just returned from Denver where I defeated two men in one week and had about made me feel that Mickey Walker will not stop Tiger Finner in Chicago on the 3rd of December, but I am sure of all—Boston."

GETTYSBURG ELEVEN ON WAY TO HUB

Gettysburg, Pa., Nov. 19.—I don't begin to bring back victory, but I do know that every man on the team is going to give the best that is in him. At all events, Boston College will know it has been in a football game.

This was the only statement Coach Big Wood made prior to the Gettysburg College eleven's departure for Hingham.

The injured members of the team, with the exception of Bradford, who is still in the hospital suffering from a sprained knee, were all expected to be in their regular places on Saturday.

Bradford, who was the last one to report after being out because of a sprained knee, will be in the line-up. Wood refused to disclose the entire lineup.
